

“Mr. Ajaypal Singh Banga, IIMA Student Yearbook, 1980-1981”

AJAYPAL SINGH BANGA (SURD, CORPORATE)

A hearty man with a hearty laugh - and without question a hearty appetite. A stable, sensible fun guy who combines business with pleasure with the right amount of seriousness and 'tempo' thrown in. Always ready for second helpings of ice-creams and other good things in life - some of which Gujarat was unable to offer in the requisite amounts, the cantonment notwithstanding. Sound on his academic fundas, his class CP was delivered in the strident decibels of a corporate prophet. Tull and Beatles blared out from the filched DJ speaker adroitly concealed in one corner of his room. Ready to help, be it Economics or Railway bookings, his boisterous laugh and deep throated animal calls ricocheted daily off the walls of D-5. One of those stolid pillars - in good times or bad. All in all, a man for all seasons, as no doubt the "season" would testify!

Source: IIMA Archives